Warlord, one of our greatest cigar blends ever created, a true rare cigar for the true aficionado, be aware, these cigars are extremely strong and bold. Again the packaging is tremendous and it is like the Grand Age as far as being somewhat limited.

At the height of the British rule in India, colonial soldiers began to make their own cigars from the local tobacco. The fondness of the British for these legendary Nepalese fighters inspired them to name their cigars "Gurkhas." After the rule of the Raja Waned, British expatriates living in India continued to smoke Gurkhas produced in the Portuguese territory of Goa. Eventually, However, The Gurkha cigars simply lapsed into obscurity. Steeped in legend and history, the Gurkha cigars, created more than a century ago has been reborn and remains true to its roots in faraway India. Today, the legend lives on in the premium brand cigars "Gurkha."
